A structural fire is an instance of destructive and uncontrolled burning of a building or other structure or its contents, which may or may not be due to an explosion. Examples of other structures include a transmission tower, lighthouse, shed, kiosk, and gazebo.

A structural fire does not include:

- An explosion that does not result in fire.
- A vehicle fire or explosion, unless the vehicle is located inside a structure (in which case it is considered part of the structure's contents).

An open area fire or explosion, as might occur with forest, hedge or brush.

- An incident other than a fire that results in a fire department emergency response, such as an over pressure rupture, false fire call, rescue, public hazard or medical call.

The definition of total dollar losses is taken from the Ontario Fire Marshal's Occurrence Reporting Manual, which is used by municipal fire departments as a guide in completing Standard Incident Reports.

Estimated dollar loss is defined as the cost of actual damage to property and property contents. This amount includes direct losses resulting from fire, explosion, smoke, water or other destruction associated with firefighting operations. Not to be included in this total are revenue losses or costs involved due to business interruption, loss of good will, loss of sale, production down time, vacancies or environmental contamination cleanup. In accordance with Canadian insurance practices, damages and/or destruction of buildings, installed equipment and contents shall be estimated and reported at actual replacement value. For buildings under demolition or other property of little value, the dollar loss is the salvage value of the property lost in the fire.
